☆

Dear Comrades: —

We, the Sergeants of 1970 - 1971, wish to express our thanks and gratitude to everyone in our great company. Your tremendous support of all our activities made the work required "well worth it."

As we look back at our year, we also look forward to the incoming Sergeants, remembering only too well our year. Remembering too, that a successful Sergeant's year requires good ideas, hard work, team work, great support and a little luck.

Thanks again.

A Profile:

THE ANCIENT AND HONORABLE ARTILLERY COMPANY OF MASSACHUSETTS

The first white settlers of Massachusetts were faced with the matter of self-protection against the exceedingly treacherous, wild and savage tribes of Indians. Volunteer military companies, called train bands were formed for this purpose and by the fall of 1636, seven such bands had been formed, each under the command of a captain, a lieutenant and an ensign. In view of the fact that several of the first settlers had been members of the Honourable Artillery Company of London, it was decided to establish such a company in the new colony which should not only be a school for officers for the train bands, but one for officers of any future troops which would be organized. With this purpose in mind, the officers of the voluntary train bands in the seven towns, together with the civic and business leaders of the day, formed a new military association, as a means of training officers. The meetings for instruction in discipline and tactics began in 1637 and a request for a charter of incorporation for the company was submitted to the Governor.

By order of Governor John Winthrop and Council, confirmed by the General Court on 13 March 1638, a charter was granted to the Military Company of the Massachusetts, later to become known as the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. This organization was established along the lines of the Honourable Artillery Company of London, organized and chartered in 1537. The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts is the oldest military organization in the Western Hemisphere and the third oldest in the world, preceded only by the Swiss Guard and the Honourable Artillery Company of London. Its history surpasses all other institutions in the New World, except the Christian Church and the Public School, in existence on the American continent when it was chartered.

Every member seems to be compelled by his inner emotions to perpetuate the comradeship which is unparalleled in any other organization. This coveted membership is undoubtedly the most significant, and as its history has written the past so will its history write the future.

Since the time of Captain Robert Keayne, the first Captain Commanding, each Commander has accepted the tremendous responsibilities of the high office by maintaining the traditions of the Company and to bring credit to its purpose of existence.

The highlights of the calendar year begin with June Day, which is the first Monday in June. On this day, the Company and invited military delegations parade in Boston, conduct the Drum Head Election of Officers for the coming year, attend Memorial Church Services where the annual Sermon and Ode are delivered and the reading of the Death Roll takes place. A banquet in the evening, attended by National, State and City dignitaries, concludes the activities.

The Company is represented throughout the year at various civic ceremonies and parades and is always accorded a place of honor and distinction.

The members of the Company have become known as ambassadors without portfolio. This has been brought about by the fact that the Company has a Fall Field Day Tour of Duty which for some time now, has taken the Company to various places in the world, including around the world. Formal exchanges of good will are made with the leaders of the countries visited in respect to strengthening the relationship between the two nations.

The Cradle of Liberty, Faneuil Hall in Boston, is the headquarters of the Company. An Armory, a Military Museum and Library established in 1878 is maintained and open to the public. A visit to this historical Headquarters causes one to understand the significance of the traditions of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company.

The Company has a democratic spirit within the ranks, whereby the high-ranking military man marches shoulder to shoulder with the private, depicting the pinnacle of comradeship. The Company takes justifiable pride in having had four Presidents of the United States as members, namely, James Monroe, Chester Alan Arthur, Calvin Coolidge and John F. Kennedy. In addition to this honor, four members have been recipients of our nation's highest military decoration, the Medal of Honor.
